

Andrew Ali

Andrew Ali holds an Hons. B.Eng. from the University of Ontario Institute of Technology (UOIT) in Nuclear Engineering. Upon graduation (with distinction) in 2008 he joined Amec Foster Wheeler Nuclear Canada, where he worked in many areas such as stress analysis, design engineering, thermal hydraulics, thermal performance and aging management.

Andrew has been an active member of the Canadian Nuclear Society (CNS) since 2005. He has held the positions of vice-chairperson for the CNS UOIT branch and is currently the chairperson of the CNS Toronto Branch since 2013. He is also active as a member of North American Young Generation in Nuclear (NAYGN) Canada.